

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI
FIRENZE

Selezione pubblica, per esami, per la formazione di una graduatoria di categoria C, posizione economica C1, dell'area amministrativa, con contratto di lavoro subordinato a tempo determinato e pieno, per le esigenze delle Aree e delle Strutture dell'Ateneo anche ai fini del supporto amministrativo alla gestione e alla rendicontazione dei progetti che vedranno coinvolto l'Ateneo fiorentino nell'ambito dei bandi ministeriali emanati in attuazione del Piano Nazionale di Ripresa e Resilienza (PNRR)

Estratto del verbale n. 1 del 25 maggio 2022

Criteria di valutazione e Tracce prova scritta

[...] la Commissione stabilisce che la prova scritta sarà così strutturata:

- 8 domande a risposta chiusa
- 3 domande aperte

I punteggi attribuiti saranno di:

- domande a risposta chiusa: 1,5 punto per ogni risposta esatta, 0 punti per ogni risposta sbagliata, non data o multipla
- risposte alle domande aperte: da 0 a 6 punti per ognuna

Il punteggio totale sarà dato dalla somma dei punteggi di tutte le domande a risposta chiusa e dal punteggio attribuito alle risposte date alle domande aperte. Come previsto dal bando, il punteggio minimo da raggiungere per il superamento della prova sarà di 21/30.

La prova avrà una durata di 1 ora.

Per la valutazione della prova orale la Commissione individua i seguenti criteri:

- chiarezza espositiva e appropriatezza concettuale;
- completezza e correttezza sostanziale dei contenuti;
- logica argomentativa e capacità di analisi/sintesi.

[...] Successivamente la Commissione, in coerenza con quanto sopra definito, predisponde tre diverse versioni (A, B, C) della prova scritta, in modo che i candidati abbiano la possibilità di sorteggiarne

una. Ogni elenco di domande è quindi composto da n. 8 domande a risposta chiusa e n. 3 domande aperte.

Excerpt of the Speech by President-elect von der Leyen in the European Parliament Plenary on the occasion of the presentation of her College of Commissioners and their programme
Strasbourg, 27 November 2019

We should never forget that competitive sustainability has always been at the heart of our social market economy.

We just called it differently.

Think of the family-owned businesses all across our European Union. They were not built solely on shareholder value or the next bonuses. They were built to last, to pass down generations, to provide a fair living to employees. They were built on passion for quality, tradition and innovation.

The things we make today may have changed. But we must rediscover our competitive sustainability, dear friends here in this House.

It was in this spirit that each and every Member State committed to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. And it is in this spirit that Paolo Gentiloni will oversee the implementation of the Goals. He believes in it and I believe in him.

The European economy has recovered from one of the worst economic and financial crises since the end of the Second World War. The labour market remains strong and unemployment continues to fall.

However, with clouds forming on the horizon, Europe should prepare for what is ahead. We need to rely on what makes us strong: our single market, our single currency.

It is high time to complete our Economic and Monetary Union to deliver growth and jobs by increasing macroeconomic resilience. We must use the flexibility allowed under the Stability and Growth Pact to give the time and the space for our economies to grow.

And at the same time, we must support Member States with targeted investments and structural reforms.

I cannot think of a better person to lead this work than Elisa Ferreira.

9. On what basis were the family-owned businesses in the European Union built?

- a. Solely on shareholder value
- b. To pass down generations and provide a fair living to employees
- c. Solely on the next bonuses

10. What strengths should the European Union rely on?

- a. Single market and single currency
- b. Industrial development
- c. Transparency of qualifications and competences

11. How should Member States be supported?

- a. Protection of a person's digital identity
- b. Development of infrastructures
- c. Targeted investments and structural reforms

- f. una connessione senza fili

Excerpt of the Speech by President-elect von der Leyen in the European Parliament Plenary on the occasion of the presentation of her College of Commissioners and their programme
Strasbourg, 27 November 2019

We should never forget that competitive sustainability has always been at the heart of our social market economy.

We just called it differently.

Think of the family-owned businesses all across our European Union. They were not built solely on shareholder value or the next bonuses. They were built to last, to pass down generations, to provide a fair living to employees. They were built on passion for quality, tradition and innovation.

The things we make today may have changed. But we must rediscover our competitive sustainability, dear friends here in this House.

It was in this spirit that each and every Member State committed to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. And it is in this spirit that Paolo Gentiloni will oversee the implementation of the Goals. He believes in it and I believe in him.

The European economy has recovered from one of the worst economic and financial crises since the end of the Second World War. The labour market remains strong and unemployment continues to fall.

However, with clouds forming on the horizon, Europe should prepare for what is ahead. We need to rely on what makes us strong: our single market, our single currency.

It is high time to complete our Economic and Monetary Union to deliver growth and jobs by increasing macroeconomic resilience. We must use the flexibility allowed under the Stability and Growth Pact to give the time and the space for our economies to grow.

And at the same time, we must support Member States with targeted investments and structural reforms.

I cannot think of a better person to lead this work than Elisa Ferreira.

9. In what spirit did the Member States commit to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals?

- a. Boosting Gross Domestic Product (GDP)
- b. Rediscovering competitive sustainability
- c. Fostering the digital transition

10. How can we support economic growth in the European Union?

- a. Promoting the digitalization of public services
- b. Using the flexibility allowed under the Stability and Growth Pact
- c. Supporting social inclusion

11. On what basis were the family-owned businesses in the European Union built?

- d. Solely on shareholder value
- e. Solely on the next bonuses
- f. To pass down generations and provide a fair living to employees

- i. un sistema di gestione dati

Excerpt of the Speech by President-elect von der Leyen in the European Parliament Plenary on the occasion of the presentation of her College of Commissioners and their programme
Strasbourg, 27 November 2019

We should never forget that competitive sustainability has always been at the heart of our social market economy.

We just called it differently.

Think of the family-owned businesses all across our European Union. They were not built solely on shareholder value or the next bonuses. They were built to last, to pass down generations, to provide a fair living to employees. They were built on passion for quality, tradition and innovation.

The things we make today may have changed. But we must rediscover our competitive sustainability, dear friends here in this House.

It was in this spirit that each and every Member State committed to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. And it is in this spirit that Paolo Gentiloni will oversee the implementation of the Goals. He believes in it and I believe in him.

The European economy has recovered from one of the worst economic and financial crises since the end of the Second World War. The labour market remains strong and unemployment continues to fall.

However, with clouds forming on the horizon, Europe should prepare for what is ahead. We need to rely on what makes us strong: our single market, our single currency.

It is high time to complete our Economic and Monetary Union to deliver growth and jobs by increasing macroeconomic resilience. We must use the flexibility allowed under the Stability and Growth Pact to give the time and the space for our economies to grow.

And at the same time, we must support Member States with targeted investments and structural reforms.

I cannot think of a better person to lead this work than Elisa Ferreira.

9. On what principles do EU family-owned businesses stand?

- d. Competition
- e. Passion for quality, tradition and innovation
- f. Organization of work

10. What strengths should the European Union rely on?

- d. Single market and single currency
- e. Industrial development
- f. Transparency of qualifications and competences

11. How can we support economic growth in the European Union?

- a. Promoting the digitalization of public services
- b. Using the flexibility allowed under the Stability and Growth Pact
- c. Supporting social inclusion